U.N. Reopens Congo Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko reopens the explosive Congo question before the U.N. General Assembly today after an overnight delay because of the death of a Cuban delegate.

Manuel Bisbe, 55, Cuba's permanent representative at the United Nations, collapsed outside the General Assembly hall Monday and died of a heart attack just before the Congo debate was to open. The assembly adjourned after observing a minute of silence.

In launching the new Congo debate, Gromyko was expected to attack the decision of Congo President Joseph Kasavubu and other anti-Communist Congolese leaders to abolish the federal government in favor of a confederation of semi-independent states.

The Soviet Union already has assailed the plan as a plot by Belgium to dismember the Congo and preserve Belgium's colonial control.

Delegates feared a bitter Congo debate, rehearsing all the old charges and counter charges, would set the tone for a long and stormy session.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld sent the Security Council word that his Congo advisory committee had recommended setting up a four-nation commission of jurists to make an on-the-spot investigation into the death of Patrice Lumumba, the deposed Congo premier.

A group of 39 Asian and African nations put in a request that the assembly take up the situation in the Portuguese West African territory of Angola, where pro-independence rioting was followed by tribal massacres of white settlers in North Angola last week.

Despite Portuguese opposition, the steering committee is virtually certain to approve assembly debate on Angola.

Intoxicated Driver Held After Mishap

Three drivers were cited and one of them jailed by highway patrolmen in a series of three traffic mishaps Monday.

A 24-year-old Youngstown man is in Columbiana County jail today after being arrested by patrolmen for driving while intoxicated and having no driver's license following a one-car mishap on Rt. 164, two and one-half miles south of Columbiana, at 8:10 p.m. Monday.

Highway patrolmen said Emil Marycz of Youngstown drove his southbound car at a high rate of speed and lost control, causing the auto to hit an abutment on the right side of the road and overturn.

Marycz was jailed after he was treated at Salem City Hospital for lacerations and abrasions of the face. The car was demolished, patrolmen said.

Anthony Edgerton, 29, of Columbiana, was cited by patrolmen for failing to yield the right of way following a two-car accident at the junction of Routes 30 and 7, six miles north of East Liverpool at 4 p.m.

Patrolmen said Edgerton drove his westbound auto onto Rt. 7 into the side of a southbound car operated by Marcus Sutherland, 70.

Teachers Hear NEA President

175 Attend Dinner At Columbiana

America must have quality education to advance the cause of freedom, the president of the National Education Association told 175 Columbiana County teachers Monday night at a dinner meeting in Joshua Dixon School in Columbiana.

Miss Clarice Kline, a high school teacher at Waukesha, Wis., said that is the reason why the NEA is supporting the proposal of President Kennedy for federal support to education. Her subject was the NEA's theme for the year, "A Charge To Keep."

Miss Kline was introduced by Mrs. Ethel Clunk of the Columbiana grade system. East Palestine, Leontina and Lisbon schools joined Columbiana in sponsoring Miss Kline's visit during a one-week speaking tour in Ohio. Mrs. Vera Frayser, president of the Columbiana Teachers Assn., presided.

Supt. D. W. Bailey of Columbiana gave the welcome, and Miss Mildred Liston of Columbiana, the invocation. Dinner was served by the parent-teacher organization.

East Central Ohio Teachers Assn. was represented by Paul Blair of East Liverpool, president, and the Columbiana County Education Assn. by President Jerry Russell of Wellsville, a teacher at No. 16 school.

Music was furnished by Columbiana students. Bill Hum presented a trumpet solo and Sylvia Cull, a vocal solo. A double vocal trio consisted of Darlene Griffith, Mary Drew, Gail Spanabel, Joan Coy, Kay Stassen, Sherry Ward and Grace Clark, directed by Mrs. Georgette Warner, music instructor.

Mrs. Carolyn Orr, chairman of the social committee, presented Miss Kline with a gift following her speech.

U.S., Britain To Offer New Nuclear Ban Package Plan

POLAND FRICTION GROWS — Struggle between Poland's Communist government and the Roman Catholic Church appears to be growing. Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka and Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski are speaking out. Gomulka, left, said the souls of the Roman Catholic bishops in Poland "belong to the Vatican." Cardinal Wyszynski, right, retorted in a sermon that "the struggle against the church continues."

Gets Briefing From JFK

Labor-Company Group Tackles Top Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy put top representatives of American management and labor to work today helping him solve one of the nation's most pressing problems.

Kennedy called members of his 21-man advisory committee on labor-management policy to the White House for briefings from him and a half dozen mainstays in his administration.

The President has made it clear he wants members of the advisory group to put aside partisan views and approach a wide array of national problems from the standpoint of what's best for the country as a whole.

On that basis, the President has said he will ask the group to consider means for licking many problems other than traditional labor-management differences.

Topics which the White House said would be considered in the closed-door talks today include industrial relations problems in defense industries, the international balance of payments situation, America's competitive position abroad, the administration program for economic growth, along with wage-price and employment problems.

The committee, created by Kennedy's executive order Feb. 16, consists of seven representatives each of management and organized labor, five public members and Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg and Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges.

Police Seek Salineville Jail Escapee

SALINEVILLE — Area police were alerted this morning for a Salineville demolition worker who early today dug and hammered his way through a brick wall of the Salineville jail where he was being held for assault and battery.

Police Chief Cleo Mellott said Robert Sturgill of Water St. will be charged as a jail escapee and also will be required to pay for damages to the structure.

Sturgill was charged last night with assault and battery on a complaint of his wife and placed in the old brick jail at the rear of village hall by Deputy Marshal Tom Wilson and Joe Keating, auxiliary policemen.

A check at 1 a.m. showed him still in jail, but when Chief Mellott went to the jail at 7:30 this morning, he found a hole a foot and a half square in the wall facing the village hall.

Ban In Wind On Redemption Of Tax Stamps

Ohio House Group Prepared To Make Elimination Proposal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Elimination of sales tax stamp redemptions—a move which could bring down the wrath of religious and charity groups—is in the wind in the Ohio House.

Informed legislative sources said a subcommittee of the House Taxation Committee is prepared to make the elimination proposal. The move was foreshadowed in the 1959 legislature.

At that time, groups which had been financing many of their good works through money collected from the state in stamp redemptions fought bitterly against a proposal of Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to ditch the entire sales tax stamp system.

As explained to newsmen, a bipartisan proposal in the Taxation Committee would keep the stamp system—because of a big tax collection lag if the stamps are abolished. The stamps are "prepaid"—that is, they are bought by merchants before they are issued. Without stamps, the sales tax would be an after-the-fact levy, picking up the tax pennies after the sales are made, rather than before.

For 21 years—until 1959—sales tax stamps were redeemable at 3 per cent of their face value as an enforcement measure. The legislature, two years ago, cut the redemption rate to 2 per cent.

The major tax-stamp development came as the Republican-controlled House considered a brief delay in a revision of the state's system of collecting bills for the care of mental patients.

The bill was due for a House vote Wednesday, but DiSalle got a report Saturday which he had requested from the American Psychiatric Association and asked the House to delay action until the report can be analyzed.

DiSalle plans special message to both houses on support payments Wednesday. But Rep. Roger Cloud, R-Logan, the House speaker, indicated he would call for a vote despite the governor's request for a brief postponement of action.

The Senate adjourned after 24 minutes Monday night, during which approval was given—34-0 to a House-passed bill allowing state universities to finance the building of food preparation centers by issuing revenue bonds. Miami University at Oxford is contemplating a $300,000 bond issue for such a project.

CUSTOMS AND COSTUMES DIFFER — Some people think the world is all mixed up and they may have a point. Robert Tait Nicholson is an authentic Scotsman from Edinburgh and the three girls are authentic Dallas, Texas, teenagers, which should explain the costumes. Nicholson, visiting relatives, provoked a number of stares as he went on a shopping tour in Dallas.

BACK FROM AFRICA — Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams reports to President Kennedy on his 24,000-mile Africa fact-finding mission. The former Michigan governor called for a speed-up in U.S. aid to Africa—an area where he said people "don't want to be tied down to anyone."

Two Testify In Ladutko Trial

Charged In Deaths Of Wife, Attorney

CLEVELAND (AP)—The prosecution continues presenting testimony today in the first-degree murder trial of attorney John Max Ladutko Jr., charged with killing his estranged wife, Nancy, and Charles D. Johnson, a prominent lawyer.

Harvey R. Monck, an assistant county prosecutor, said in his opening statement Monday that the shotgun slayings were premeditated. Ernest A. Gottermeyer, a defense attorney, told the jury Ladutko did when he heard his wife and Johnson coming into his apartment. She was there to pick up her belongings.

Ladutko became "enraged and enflamed" when he saw Mrs. Ladutko and Johnson embracing, and shot them, Gottermeyer asserted. He said there was no plan or premeditation.

The defendant is 32. His wife was 29 and Johnson, for whose firm she worked as a law librarian, was 42. He was married and had one child.

The state presented two women witnesses late Monday. Mrs. Mark H. Zettlemeyer Jr., a mutual friend of the Ladutkos, testified the defendant was to have dinner at her home the Jan. 17 evening of the slayings but recalled he couldn't make it because he said he was busy at the office.

Mrs. Zettlemeyer said she notified Mrs. Ladutko that her husband was coming for dinner Jan. 17. "This was important to Nancy because she wished to get her clothes at the apartment at a time when her estranged husband was not there," Monck claimed.

The other witness was the Ladutkos' landlady, Mrs. A. G. Naszovits. She said the defendant usually parked his car in the garage, but that the vehicle was parked on the street that evening "contrary to his usual custom."

MOTORIST IS FINED

Powers Holding To Demand for Inspections

Soviets Indicate They're Standing Pat on Proposals

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Three nuclear test ban talks resume today with the United States and Britain ready to offer a new package plan for a quick treaty. The Soviets indicated they are standing pat on their old proposals for the time being.

The Western powers were reported sticking firmly to their demand for inspections and controls to guard against sneak tests, the big stumbling block in the 2½ years of negotiations. But informants said the West would offer some modifications of previous positions without backing down on what it considers basic principles.

For the Kennedy administration, the negotiations provide the first test of the Soviet government's often-expressed desire for better relations between Washington and Moscow. Hanging over the negotiations was the ominous knowledge that more and more nations are approaching a point of nuclear know-how permitting them to produce nuclear weapons.

Coming back to the conference table after a three-month recess, each side put the onus of agreement on the other.

Britain's chief delegate, Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore, spoke of "a very real chance to agree upon a treaty in a matter of weeks" but added, "Everything very much depends, of course, upon the attitude of the Soviet Union."

Soviet Delegate Semyon Tsarapkin told newsmen, "We have made all our proposals." He placed the responsibility for agreement on the West.

The Soviet news agency Tass, noting preparatory conferences in Washington, said "optimists (including us) would like to hope the purpose of their efforts was to facilitate agreement" to end nuclear explosions.

E. Palestine Buys Power Station Site

EAST PALESTINE — City Council Monday night agreed to purchase for $1,000 a piece of land on E. Taggart St., owned by the R. B. Taggart estate, to be used as the site for a new power substation to be erected in connection with the municipal light plant improvement project.

The site is just inside the eastern corporation limits, close to most of the heavy electrical users. The substation will improve voltage for domestic users in that area as well as serving the industrial users.

The city will begin advertisements within the next week for five separate contracts to be let in connection with this improvement. Major items include a new boiler, a new high line from the plant to the substation (a distance of two miles), and a new switch gear. The total cost of the project will be $836,000.

In other action last night, council agreed to a revision in the commercial light rate for small shops and greenhouses.

Council agreed to delay plans for a proposed new sewage disposal plant but indicated that the matter will be placed before the people in the November election in the form of a general obligation tax levy.

Approval by the voters in November would put Council in a position to seek federal aid. Estimated cost of the disposal plant is $331,000.

Along with the bond issue, there also would be a general raise in sewer rental charges.

At its next meeting, Council will talk with parking meter representatives to discuss replacement of the present parking meters which are 12 years old.

Apathy Also Results In Levy Defeats

Ignorance, Tax Resistance Often School Issue Threats

Editor's Note—Financing America's public school system has become an increasingly costly and complex task. How is the man in the middle—the local taxpayer—bearing up? This is the first of three articles on some major factors in school financing as Congress considers federal aid.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

There are three main threats to every school bond issue, every school tax levy placed on the ballot in this country: apathy, ignorance, and resistance to taxes.

Of course there are many other reasons why school bonds and taxes are voted down.

School administrators may get grabby with public money. They may ask for facilities that aren't really needed. They may go overboard on luxurious frills.

But time after time, where the need seems urgent and the cause legitimate, it is apathy, ignorance, and resistance to taxes that defeat school bond issues at the polls, frighten some school boards into postponing requests for needed funds, or asking for much less than they really need.

The extent to which these factors operate was shown in a newsman's survey in St. Louis, Mo., and Parma, Ohio—one a city where a bond issue was defeated recently, the other where it passed on a second try.

The problems these communities face are typical of the problems confronting school boards, administrators and taxpayers almost everywhere.

Most large cities have, like St. Louis, school buildings erected many years ago and sadly antiquated. Most also have their slums, where the tax return is lowest but the educational needs greatest.

Suburbs like Parma face similar problems across the nation—young families with lots of children, but little if any industry to ease the tax burden on the homeowner.

Details differ from city to city, but the basic question remains the same—where are they to get money for their schools?

Let's look at the three factors in some specific cases.

Apathy: Last May, 6.7 per cent of the registered voters in St. Louis, Mo., went to the polls and voted "no" on two school bond issues totaling $29.5 million.

The "no" turnout was one registered voter out of 15, but it was enough to defeat the bond issues because 82.2 per cent of the registered voters didn't bother to vote that day.

Ignorance: a housewife in St. Louis was outraged. "It's criminal the way they have raised our property taxes," she said. "You just wouldn't believe how much they're soaking us." But she couldn't say whether her property taxes were closer to $100 or $1,000.

Resistance to taxes: A man living on a pension in Parma, Ohio, said, "I know we need new schools. But I can't afford to pay higher taxes. I'm being taxed to death. If my income went up, I'd be willing to have my taxes raised for the schools. But I can't pay any more out of what I'm getting now."

It is against this background that the question of federal aid to education is now being fought out again in Congress.

Is aid necessary? Each side is marshalling facts and figures.

Proponents cite statistics compiled by the U.S. Office of Education.

As of last fall, public school enrollment was at a record high of 36.3 million pupils... there was a shortage of 142,100 classrooms... there were about 685,000 pupils on curtailed or half-day sessions... altogether there were 1,868,000 pupils in excess of normal classroom capacity.

Others quote the U.S. Chamber of Commerce: "The classroom shortage is largely a paper emergency. States and communities for the most part have been and are building an adequate number of classrooms to accommodate the nation's school-age population."

The National Education Association (NEA), representing 700,000 professional educators, says there is a shortage of 135,000 teachers. The chamber of commerce says, "for some time it has been clear that the teacher shortage is diminishing except in particular subject matter areas in secondary education."

The chamber says the teacher shortage is easing because of higher teachers' salaries, and that in recent years teachers' salaries have risen more, proportionately, than the wages of all employed people.

But the one man most concerned—the homeowner on a fixed salary or pension, worried about the education of his children or grandchildren, fighting the battle of inflation, scratching to pay his taxes—what does he think?

To learn that this reporter went to Parma, Ohio, and St. Louis, Mo. I asked people whether they had voted in the recent school bond elections, how they had voted, and why. This was no attempt at a scientific survey. I just asked people to talk, and the things they said were much the same in both Parma and St. Louis, although these cities are about as unlike as they could be.

Parma had voted down a $3-million bond issue and a school tax levy last May, although it approved both of them the second time around in November. The people of St. Louis, three times in a period of nine months, voted down a badly needed $29.5 million school bond issue.

Stock, dividends, growth and your family's future

Why do more than 12,500,000 men and women own stock in American businesses today? Largely because good common stock can yield a growing income over the years through dividends—and may at the same time grow in value to help provide funds for such major expenses as college tuition, travel and retirement.

Many shareowners begin by investing very modestly—and so can you. Through the Monthly Investment Plan, you can start with as little as $40 every three months ($3.08 a week) or as much as $1000 a month.

As a starter, mail the coupon below for our free, fact-filled booklet, "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." Better yet, pick up your copy at the office so we can get to know each other.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm so embarrassed I can't find the words to express myself.

I've been married seven years to a wonderful man. We wanted a family from the beginning but have had no success. The doctors have told us we are both healthy and there is no reason why we shouldn't have children some day.

About three months ago I began to feel sick in the morning. I was thrilled. My husband even got sick, he was so happy. I gained 8 pounds, bought maternity dresses and told everyone the good news.

Yesterday I went to the doctor for my first checkup and he told me I am not pregnant. I'm so embarrassed I can't show my face. What shall I tell my friends? They will think I'm crazy. Have you ever heard of this happening to anyone else—FALSE ALARM.

Dear Alarm: Yes, I have heard of this. The medical term is pseudocyesis. In plain English, it is hysteria.

The mind can play all sorts of tricks on the body. It is not difficult to experience symptoms of a physical condition if you concentrate on it.

Tell your friends the stork canceled the order. No details are necessary. And relax. About one out of five pregnancies ends in an early cancellation.

A Stitch In Time

Dear Ann: My wife and I have been married for 11 years and we have four fine children. There is very little arguing in our family.

Last night I took our son to a Cub Scout meeting. When he raised his hand to give the pledge I noticed all the buttons on his sleeve were missing. I asked him about it and he said, "Mom promised she'd sew them on when she found time."

Mrs. Gable Ponders Name for Baby Boy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Clark Gable's widow, surrounded by congratulatory telegrams and flowers, decides today on a name for the actor's 8-pound son born Monday.

Both were described as thriving at Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital, where Gable, 59, died last Nov. 16 of a heart attack.

Kay Spreckels able to narrow her choice of a name to two, her sister, Mrs. Gordon Nesser, of suburban Canoga Park, said Monday night.

"She told me earlier that if it was a boy she would name him either John or Charles, with Clark as the middle name. She will decide definitely tomorrow," Mrs. Nesser said.

Dear P. J.: Of course this is your wife's job but apparently she has a fix on sewing buttons. Since peace reigns supreme in your home and you want to keep things calm, turn the situation into a good-natured joke. Sew the buttons on yourself and make a project of teaching your son how to do it—in case he marries a girl just like the girl who married dear old dad.

My husband keeps urging me to phone the wives of his co-workers and invite them over to have coffee and get acquainted. I am not a formal person, nor am I "stand-offish" but I do feel that I should wait until these women call me.

YOUR FAMILY MORE?

Dividends from common stock

or growth in its value?

Good question. If what you'd like most is income now—so that dividends can take care of some of those current bills—then you'll put emphasis on the dividends a stock has been paying. But if you're looking mostly to the future, with those growing family expenses in mind, then you'll probably be more interested in stock that seems most likely to grow in value.

Or you may find bonds and preferred stock, with their more stable interest or dividends, better suited to your needs.

Here's how it works

When you buy common stock, you become part owner of a business. If the company makes a profit, you could share in that profit through dividends. If it grows, the value of your stock could grow, too. Of course, if the company didn't prosper, it wouldn't pay dividends, and the value of your stock would most likely decline.

Which companies will do best?

American business has grown and over the long pull should continue to grow. In the next ten to twenty years there will be more families and more children. They'll need more food, clothes and housing. Our large businesses will have to provide more goods, more transportation, more power. And America will have to produce more raw material to make these things. That means that many businesses will grow.

Who will own those growing businesses?

Today, there are more than 12½ million shareowners. More than half have family incomes of less than $10,000 a year. Why not consider joining them? If you have money over and above your regular living expenses and provision for emergencies you owe it to your family at least to look into the opportunities investing offers.

How to invest

The first step is easy. Call on a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. It's part of the job of the Partner or Registered Representative you talk to there to help you get a good start. And you'll find his advice friendly and free. Each Registered Representative has had to meet the Exchange's requirements for knowledge and understanding of his business. Ask him for facts about companies and industries that interest you. You may want to invest a lump sum, then smaller amounts regularly through a Monthly Investment Plan. With an MIP you can acquire full shares or parts of shares with as little as $40 every three months.

Danger Lurks in Inapparent Infections

New Jersey health officials have just completed a fascinating study of a recent epidemic of sleeping sickness that is transmitted to humans by mosquitoes who have themselves gotten the infection from sick horses (equine encephalitis).

From examinations of bloods, taken from survivors of the disease and from near relatives and neighbors, they have discovered that many persons suffered the disease without showing any of the familiar manifestations of sleeping sickness (inapparent infections).

For the most part, those with inapparent infections merely remembered some vague illness that came and went without attracting particular attention.

NEVERTHELESS, their bloods showed that they'd developed an immunity to the infecting virus that was just as powerful as the immunity developed by those who had had the full-blown disease and had the good fortune to be counted among the survivors.

Let me explain why and how this observation is of importance to you. At least two of the summer diseases you are apt to encounter in your community or wherever you spend your vacation are also apt to cause several inapparent infections to a single one that's recognizable for what it is.

MORE SPECIFICALLY, for each youngster or adult whose skin turns yellow in an epidemic of catarrhal jaundice (virus hepatitis) or who develops muscle weakness or paralysis in an epidemic of polio, there are several who have merely an "inapparent infection" — a "summer cold," a "touch of gripe" or an attack of "the trots."

The inapparent illness passes with or without medical observation. A few aspirins. Or a good cleaning out. And that's all there is to it.

Fortunately for the person and unfortunately for the community, that's not all there is to it. For, while the convalescent from an inapparent attack of equine encephalitis is not much of a threat to members of the household or community unless he happens to be bitten by a mosquito who then "hitch-hikes" the virus to the next person that's bitten, those who have inapparent attacks of virus hepatitis or polio continue to excrete the pesky bug in their bowel movements. To be sure this does them no harm. They're just as immune as if they'd had the full-blown disease and recovered.

But, if they're not careful to scrub their hands thoroughly after each evacuation, they may "hitch-hike" the virus to members of the household and neighbors. In complete innocence of the threat they pose, they have become what health officers call "carriers."

MOST STUDENTS of epidemics agree that the innocent carrier is a greater menace than the obviously infected person who, because of frank signs of the disease (jaundice, paralysis), is under strict medical supervision.

What can you do about this? If you or your children develop one of these minor and passing illnesses during the course of a neighborhood flurry of catarrhal jaundice or polio, thank your lucky stars the disease has come and gone without exacting any penalty. But don't forget the possibility that your good fortune may be costly to others if the "carrier state" follows an inapparent infection.

In Our Schools

McKinley Second Grade

A "children around the world" exhibit was displayed by Mrs. John Hurrie's second grade class Friday at McKinley School. This exhibit was the culmination of a social study unit on children around the world.

The unit grew out of a study of folk games and dances and dolls from about 20 countries. The dolls are from a collection owned by Barbara Lewis, one of the second graders.

Wednesday, Dr. E. P. Schaefer showed the class movies which he took when he was in Germany and Switzerland. Thursday, Miss Helle Jensen, exchange student from Denmark, talked to the class about her native country.

The children also have made a study of climate, money and wearing apparel in other countries and have learned to speak a few words in German.

Recession From The Recession

Wherever you look, business optimism is springing up like Easter flowers. The break in the weather and the break in the long economic slowdown are occurring together, as optimists predicted they would when things looked glum in February.

The Federal Reserve Board now says February marked the end of the business slide. Here and there, workers are being called back to jobs they had been asked to stay away from until customers had bought piled-up inventories. There are grounds for optimism.

But there always are grounds for optimism when winter is over. The agricultural economy gets back into harness and starts to move. Building trades are stimulated by new starts and the completion of projects that have been marking time during the inclement months. It is a time for new clothes. Home furnishings are in demand for vernal rearranging. The buying pace quickens in the automobile industry.

No one needs to be an economist or wait for an economist's explanation about the spring pickup in economic activity. Year in and year out, the pickup does for inanimate business what it does for the animate customers of business. It offers new hope, a new challenge, a new opportunity.

BUT THIS YEAR a question raised in the 1960 presidential campaign is still waiting for an answer: Will the spring pickup be enough?

As a campaigner, President Kennedy charged that the economy had slowed down dangerously under President Eisenhower and needed to be stimulated.

His opponent could not accept an indictment of the Eisenhower administration, but Richard M. Nixon, too, thought the economy needed stimulation to give it new momentum. He could prove with his statistics that it had not been slowing down over-all, but he could not prove that it had been gaining speed fast enough. That was Mr. Kennedy's claim—that it needed something extra.

On this issue of economics, Americans who voted for Nixon felt he could do better than Kennedy. Those who voted for Kennedy thought Kennedy's ideas for adding momentum would be better.

THE SHOWDOWN on Mr. Kennedy's ideas now is at hand. The President will send his first budget message to Congress next Thursday.

Unless the message contains a plausible proposal for stimulating business enterprise substantially more than it can be stimulated by normal circumstances, economic morale will sag after the spring pickup has been discounted.

Merely to have a recession from the recession will not be enough in 1961. Mr. Kennedy said so in 1960, and he was right. Mr. Nixon said so, too, in a more roundabout way, and he was right.

Both candidates advocated more liberal depreciation allowances for business so plant expansion and modernization would be stimulated. This was recommended in President Eisenhower's last budget message. There is general agreement that it's imperative.

IT IS OPPOSED, as such ideas always are, by organized labor, whose leaders proverbially take stands against the economic interests of their members' employers. It is opposed, too, by the rolling-eyed liberals whose idea of a perfect economy is a nation of paupers taking in one another's laundry and doing it by hand in a community tub.

But the rumor in Washington is that President Kennedy has a special kind of proposal for faster and higher depreciation writeoffs to free funds for new enterprise. Whatever the method is, if it will increase investment in job opportunities, a net increase in employment would be the result.

Nothing short of that will be enough. More than an ordinary springtime spurt is needed in 1961. Job-makers must be spurred into doing what wrong-headed tax laws have been keeping them from doing—making new jobs in new enterprises to replace old jobs that have been blotted out of old enterprise by rising costs and the other factors that make automation seem to be the only alternative to failure.

These jobs are not coming back. They must be replaced by new ones.

Make Hoffa a Vice President

The word from Orlando, Fla., is that James R. Hoffa has no more chance of going to trial on a 12-count federal mail fraud indictment than he has of being invited to dinner at the Kennedy's house come next Christmas.

A three-day hearing this week on defense motions for dismissal revealed what has been revealed so many times before that it has become a standard act of legal show business. Hoffa's lawyers are never less than two jumps ahead of the government lawyers. They are paid well for their services, and they obviously earn their money.

The judge in Florida isn't even close to setting a trial date, as requested by the government. He has given both sides until May 1 to submit written briefs, another seven days to reply to each other's briefs and thereafter enough time-consuming legal inaction is in prospect to keep the proceedings on dead center indefinitely.

This is no trivial case. Hoffa and several others are under indictment for using the mails and interstate telephone and telegraph service to promote an illegal land development scheme in Florida. The indictment says they misused more than half a million dollars in Teamsters Union funds for their personal profit. But how can the government get at James R. Hoffa?

Maybe it will have to persuade one of the big electrical companies to make him a vice president so they can get at him in an antitrust action, which is duck soup for federal prosecutors.

Clean-Up Time

There's little excuse for individuals, especially in the crowded downtown mercantile section, to let debris accumulate, yet Fire Chief Clarence Wright must constantly alert himself to the dangers as they exist.

Rubbish piled at the rear of some stores is a fire threat as well as a health hazard. The chief reports some refuse accumulating through the winter months, despite the fact that private haulers make scheduled stops throughout the city.

A cooperative campaign by the fire department and the city health department might convince the most flagrant violators the Spring is as good a time as any for a good clean-up job.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Mortimer Topblower wants a Peace Corps to be assigned to duty with labor-management, mediation boards, U.N. and the Supreme Court. He would have volunteers live among the labor-management folks, traveling on the same level (Cadillac) and enduring all the sufferings endured by mediators. "I would have them detailed to the Jimmy Hoffa zone, making them live in the native Hoffa Florida-convention manner, occupying the same swimming pools and striving to bring the American picture to expensive lawyers," he declares.

"The U.S. Supreme Court needs peace corpsmen. There is conflict there all the time," he continued. "I would send dedicated men and women, fed up with 5-4 decisions, to Washington, to mix with the justices, splitting hairs with them, observing conflicting views and trying to educate them in reaching a common conclusion on what the law means."

It might, of course, be difficult to get Peace Corps workers to live in the Justice Douglas manner, with all that mountain climbing.

As for the U.N., Mr. Topblower says it is a center of violence where a peace corps is greatly needed to sit with Gromyko, throw voices in the Moscow manner, eat raw meat and try to promote the idea there are two sides to any question. (This would be tough going, he agrees.)

"I would send youths to give up all pleasures and live at Security Council sessions, yawning in the native manner, sleeping through most of the speeches or doodling during translations," he concludes.

We would assign a Peace Corps force to duty trying to establish friendly relations between autoists and pedestrians.

The members would have to live at busy intersections and along main highways, eat the native hamburgers and gently promote the idea there can be no world peace until it is agreed there is room both for man on foot and in auto.

DICK NIXON will lead drive to infuse new blood into GOP. Election was close but the party has been bleeding ever since. He will join California law firm. For a time it will be difficult not to stand up and wave at people between the office and the court.

Official portrait of President Kennedy has been adopted and it is so attractive any Democrat can show it to a Republican and say "Look! No HORNS!"

College professor says President Kennedy's pronunciation is bad and his voice "flat, nasal and harsh." But it may be that the professor's radio and TV are in bad shape. Our guess is that the tuner isn't working. But assuming the professor is right, we can see no students avoiding JFK's speaking faults with the cry "Things like that can only make you President of the U.S."

Settle It On the Sidewalk!

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

There's one industry that has really had to pull in its belt. That's the pants business. The Orient is crushing it beneath a load of 45 million pairs of men's trousers and women's slacks dumped into the United States this last year. And Jack Potofsky, president of the men's clothing union, quietly has asked John Kennedy for a long private talk to convince the President not to oppose a boycott of Tokyo's manufacturers.

Mr. Potofsky, soft voiced even in anger, is fond of Mr. Kennedy. But he insists the chief executive has been "misinformed." Potofsky and other leaders of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers union literally fear that Japan may wipe out our multibillion dollar clothing industry and add hundreds of thousands of needle workers to the unemployed.

It's not only pants, it's 35 million shirts from Japan and Hong Kong sold here last year. Shirts and pants are but two of a host of U.S. items threatened by the Japanese apparel industry.

Furthermore, Potofsky points out that the Japanese began building their export apparel industry exactly two years ago, in March 1959.

Matter of Fact

Ironically, it was on April Fool's day of 1861 that William H. Seward suggested he relieve the "green" President Abraham Lincoln of his duties. Seward was secretary of state in the Lincoln administration and fancied himself a more qualified leader than the strapping Illinoisan. So he wrote a memo offering to take over the real operation of the government, with Lincoln as figurehead. But Lincoln refused to become a puppet.

Thoughts

Let us conduct ourselves becomingly as in the day, not in reveling and drunkenness, not in debauchery and licentiousness, not in quarreling and jealousy. — Romans 13:13.

A good man will avoid the spot of any sin. The very aspersions are grievous, which makes him choose his way in life, as he would in his journey. — Ben Jonson.

From the Files

5 YEARS AGO — Mrs. Norman Smith, Mrs. Michael DeCrow, Mrs. Bill Sechler and Mrs. Mike Oana have been elected officers of the Prospect School Parent-Teacher Association.

10 YEARS AGO — Jean Hendrick of RD 1 Salem, a senior at Illinois State Normal School, has been named to the dean's list for the first semester.

25 YEARS AGO — Stanley Busse of Salem was honored last night at a party in East Liverpool, his former home.

The first year they sold 20 million pants and slacks. The second year they more than doubled their sales here.

IN FIVE YEARS they'll wipe out this part of the manufacturing business in the U.S. this is the same Japanese cloth industry which sells U.S. producers up to $35 million worth of woolen fabrics a year.

The same Japanese producers who sell us the woollens now also are making hand tailored suits and selling them in the U.S. for $45 — thus competing with and underselling the same American manufacturers who buy their woollens.

Thus, Potofsky insists that unless his union rejects the President's criticism and does boycott Japanese fabrics, the same thing will happen in suits that has occurred in pants.

In a decade our men's clothing industry could be virtually extinct. Potofsky's decision to beard the President in his den, clothes the men's garment crisis in high drama. This is the first time a veteran New Deal labor leader has publicly criticized the new President.

Whatever else happens inside the White House when the two men talk, Potofsky really will be battling for a string of other industries hit by Japan.

THOUGH THE PUBLIC is generally unaware of the depth of this Japanese economic thrust, imports from the Orient have thrown thousands out of factories making baseball gloves, imitation pearls, transparent raincoats, chinaware, pottery, plastic handbags, hat bodies, glass beads, bracelets, costume jewelry and chemicals as well as the radio and TV field.

It is little known for example, that Japan sells us 90 per cent of our baseball gloves.

Their tales of woe are as grim as the saga of the pants imports from the Orient. In each case, pressure from the State Department mutes the protests of our own industrialists, who are made to feel like traitors to our Japanese ally.

Our friends from Tokyo do not hesitate to join with our enemies. For example, the commercially minded gentlemen from Japan have only recently signed a trade pact with "Bulgarian People's Republic." The pact was made on Feb. 24.

Tokyo will sell Sofia the very product the White House has refused to help Moscow make — ball bearings.

A few weeks ago Mr. Kennedy killed a sale of 45 U.S. ball bearing machines to Russia because this equipment could be used for weapons against us. So now the Japanese agree to sell the finished bearings to a Soviet satellite.

NOR IS THAT ALL. Japan will sell the Bulgarian state trust intricate machinery, ships, steel, aluminum, artificial tires, plastics, chemicals. All of these certainly bolster the Soviet bloc war-making apparatus.

Furthermore, the Japanese have agreed to buy Bulgarian tobacco, alcoholic drinks, carpets, lead, and zinc. What's wrong with our tobacco? Our own growers in Connecticut and the South could use more orders. Also I know a few depressed areas which could use those Japanese orders for carpets, lead and zinc.

If the Japanese want loyalty and sacrifice from us, how about some reciprocal sacrifice?

It is good, therefore, to hear Jack Potofsky, talking for his own union, fight for all our back-to-the-wall workers and businessmen when he says:

"We are not prepared ... to see our standards undermined, our jobs jeopardized and our industry demoralized by intransigence from abroad or by the failure of our foreign economic policy to adjust to the realities of the rapidly changing world."

No one wants to hurt an ally. But neither does anyone want to commit hara-kiri.

Vital Questions

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Professors Blast House Probe Committee

Not so very long ago those persons who publicly criticized the Supreme Court of the United States for its "desegregation" decision were being accused of "defiance" of our judicial institutions or of trying to "undermine their prestige." But no such treatment probably is in store for the 250 "leading American professors" in 79 universities and colleges who have just issued to the press of the nation a bitter statement criticizing the Supreme Court.

They object to the fact that the Supreme Court in two successive cases has declared constitutional the right of the house committee on Un-American Activities to require witnesses under certain circumstances to answer questions about Communist activities in America. Indeed, this today is "the law of the land."

The professors, in their statement, contend that they are "dedicated to the proposition that free enquiry and free expression nourish mental growth and are thus basic to the nation's growth."

Then the same 250 professors go on to demand the "abolition" of the House committee because they do not agree with its expressions of opinion or its attempts to elicit information about Communist operations in this country.

While the same statement condemns "trial by publicity," the officials of the American Civil Liberties Union — who say they "canvassed" the professors to obtain their signatures — announce that this organization is "engaged in a long-range campaign" against the continuance of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. It is not clear just what the professors want to accomplish outside or inside American colleges and universities, though there is an implication that they believe they have a right to carry this type of controversy directly into their classrooms.

Presumably there would be nobody with similar knowledge present on the other side to rebut their arguments before the students.

THE PROFESSORS, in their statement, complain that "many teachers in the colleges and universities, as well as in the public schools, have grown timid about stating, even for classroom discussion, ideas which someone later might interpret as subversive."

What the professors really object to is the effort of the House Committee on Un-American Activities to do something which none of the executive agencies like the CIA or the FBI can do — namely, to expose in the midst of the "cold war" the workings of the Communist apparatus inside the United States.

The professors who signed the latest petition do not hesitate to identify themselves with the prestige conveyed by the names of the universities and colleges that employ them. Thus the statement, in giving the list of the 250 professors, attaches in each case the name of the university or college where they teach and their subjects. The following notation is included:

The institutional affiliation of the remaining signers is for the purposes of identification only and in no way commits the institution to the views expressed.

Why is it necessary to "identify" these professors by using the name of their respective colleges and universities and by specifying the subjects they teach?

Will the general public assume that, because these professors hold such positions, they perhaps reflect the views of a substantial number of other professors who were or were not "canvassed"?

THERE ARE, for example, among the signers 18 professors from Harvard, 13 from Yale and 5 from Princeton.

Is the public to infer that the board of trustees of Harvard or Yale or Princeton or the faculty of each approves the use of the names of their universities in the public prints hereafter as an attachment to any political-propaganda document regardless of content?

Will the parents of students in those universities feel any concern that some professors holding views of this kind will dominate discussions of communism in the classroom?

Will some of the donors of funds to the various universities begin to harbor fears that such funds may be used to hire professors who advocate that a gag be imposed on the free expression of ideas by a committee of Congress — especially on a topic of vital importance to the security and safety of the United States?

These are questions that naturally will arise now. The professors, in their statement, concede that "the committee has latterly improved its hearing manners" but this apparently isn't enough — they demand that the committee be abolished altogether, notwithstanding the fact that the courts specifically are empowered to correct any abuses in the conduct of hearings.

The late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes once defined "free speech" as "freedom of the thought we hate" but these college professors don't want the House Committee on Un-American Activities even to exist, let alone to speak out under the free-speech clause of the Constitution — which, incidentally, applies not only to the signers of petitions but also to members of Congress and its committees.

Worth Waiting For

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—What is it like to be 50 years old?

That question bothered me when I hit the half century mark a month ago. I feared the worst. I had a half-formed dread that, like the wonderful one I once had, a fellow ran the risk of suddenly falling to pieces, worn out in every part.

At the best, I figured, life would be dramatically and dismayingly different.

But after a full four weeks of being 50, I learned a surprising thing—it isn't half as worrisome as being a teen-ager. You may have fewer big dreams, but you have fewer big problems, too.

At 50 you face up to the fact you are too old for President Kennedy to invite you into his Peace Corps, but somehow this is a blow you are able to weather without undue bitterness.

After all, it doesn't mean you are relegated to the wheel chair. You are still a bit young for that. You are also still too young to park in the chimney corner and start mumbling over your bowl of gruel.

Here's what it is really like to be 50 years young:

Women of 40 become dangerously beautiful, and any girl under 35 seems gauche and immature.

Instead of thinking old age as beginning at 60, you decide it begins at 70, or 75, or maybe even, 80.

You feel sorry for the young. They have so much trouble to go through which you yourself have already known. You decide that if you could have youth a second time you wouldn't want it.

The boss, particularly if he is older than you, rises higher in your estimation. After all, any man smart enough to keep you on the payroll all these years can't be altogether dumb. Maybe all along he knew what he was doing—some days anyway.

The tree outside your door, and you feel like hiring a brass band

You appreciate your wife more, too. She has put up with a lot, and been loyal. Now and then you even catch yourself absent-mindedly listening to something she says—and finding it intensely interesting. When you think of some of the dames you might have married, you shudder.

You quit trying to tell your children how to run their lives. You tell them, "I brought you up this far—you'll have to make it the rest of the way on your own."

You are somewhat surprised to find how much more relaxed this makes the whole family.

Retirement, which seemed so distant, now looms nearer and nearer. Why, 65 is only 180 months away, 179, 178. You begin looking around for a hobby of some kind. Doesn't everybody say a man ought to have a hobby?

The turning seasons become a recurrent miracle. It is as if time had peeled your eyes to a new freshness. As spring comes on you note the sudden greening of brown grass, an opening bud on to serenade the first robin you see.

At 50 you are swept with gratitude for many things you took for granted before, because now you realize you won't know these sights and sounds and people and experiences forever.

If you have a chance to become 50, don't pass it by. It's just worth waiting for.

HOW TO TELL A DODGE FROM A DODGE

Identifying a Dodge has become a problem. Because now there are two. Compact Dodge Lancer. Full-size Dodge Dart. There is an obvious difference. Size, inside and out. Dart, the lower picture, is the larger. But otherwise they are very much alike. Both have a unitized, rust-proofed body. A superb ride called Torsion-Aire. A battery-saving alternator. And both have optional three-speed push-button automatic transmissions. Another difference is price. Dart, the full-size Dodge, is priced model for model with Ford and Chevrolet. The compact Dodge Lancer costs about the same as Comet, Falcon and Corvair. Get to know them better. At your Dodge Dealer's, of course.

Dayton Clashes With Temple in NIT Battle Tonight

Niagara Faces Providence In Other Quarter-Finals Tilt

Rangy Ohio Quintet Has Decided Height Advantage Over Rivals

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK (AP) — The long and the short of the National Invitation Tournament meet in one of the quarter-finals in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Dayton, five times a finalist and never a winner, has the tallest team in the tourney. The Flyers play Temple's Tiny Tins in the opener of the doubleheader.

In the second game, Niagara—the only other seeded team left besides Dayton—goes against Providence. The winners go into the semi-finals on Thursday. The final is scheduled for Saturday.

"I know all about these little guys," said Dayton Coach Tom Blackburn, referring to Temple.

"They are not easy to beat. In fact, the little teams have been dominating this tournament."

Temple Coach Shudders

Temple's Coach Harry Litwak shudders when he thinks of Dayton's figures—a 19-7 regular season record and over 90 points five times.

The controversial giant swept all honors last season when he was named both the Player of the Year and the Rookie of the Year as well as pivotman on the all-star team. Yet, although reaching even greater heights in scoring and rebounding this season, The Stilt was overshadowed by Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics, who was voted the Player of the Year and the all-star center for 1960-61.

Every performer in the circuit, without exception, cast a ballot in The Sporting News' poll. Along with Russell, the players' choices were Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks and Elgin Baylor of the Los Angeles Lakers at the forwards and Bob Cousy of the Celtics and Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals at the guards.

Robertson was the overwhelming selection as the Rookie of the Year.

Under the rules, the players were not permitted to vote for any of their own teammates. This had no effect, incidentally, on the competition between Russell and Chamberlain. In a stand-off, nine Celtics voted for Chamberlain and nine Warriors picked Russell.

The Sporting News pointed out that Chamberlain was tremendous as an individual player, with emphasis perhaps on "individual," since he took exactly 958 more shots than any other Warrior, with a record total of 2,479, but his Philadelphia club finished 11 games behind Boston.

Refreshments will be served and an activity period held following the meeting. All members are urged to attend.

"The big men have been killing us all season," moaned Litwak. "In fact, we've made them look like All-Americans."

The Niagara-Providence game will be a replay of an earlier season game between the two teams. Providence won that one 76-74 in double overtime when Jim Hadnot made good on a 1-and-1 foul with four seconds to go.

8th NIT For Niagara
Niagara Coach Taps Gallagher, who is leading his club into the NIT for the eighth time—also without a championship—is worried that Joe Maddrey, his 6-4 corner man, will be out. Maddrey has a 16.2 scoring average. He has a twisted knee and an injured shoulder.

Niagara plays strictly a man-to-man defense, but Friar Coach Joe Mullane calls his defense a "Chinese man-to-man."

"It's basically a zone," sniffed Gallagher. "I talk only one language, English."

NBA Players Ignore Wilt In Selecting All-Star Team

Although Wilt Chamberlain broke 10 records this season, one of them with a phenomenal scoring total of 3,033 points, the 7-foot, 1-inch center of the Philadelphia Warriors failed surprisingly to land on the annual all-star team of the National Basketball Association as chosen by the players themselves for The Sporting News.

Clyde Shoff Paced Greenford Scorers

Clyde Shoff, although he saw no action in three of his team's 21 games, led the Greenford Bobcats in scoring this season with 237 points.

The veteran senior also paced the Bobcats in scoring last year as a junior, edging out freshman Bill Berry who later moved to Salem and became one of the Quakers' standouts this season.

Post Office Grabs Runner-Up Spot In Volleyball

Post Office assured itself of not worse than a tie for the runner-up spot for the second round title in the Salem Adult Volleyball League by virtue of its three victories chalked up over Electric Furnace Engineering last night at the Memorial Building.

Post Office, which lost the first round title in a playoff with season's champion Kiwanis, has a 23-7 second half record with three games with Bliss remaining. The only team with a chance of tying the Mailmen is Hunt Quick As Wink which has a 20-10 record and three games with Arndt Insurance remaining.

Victories for Post Office last night came by scores of 15-4, 15-1 and 15-0. Hunt Quick As Wink took two out of three from Hunt Plungers, 15-6, 15-11 and 5-7. Arndt Insurance forfeited three games to Bliss.

Wednesday's schedule shows Arndt's vs Hunt Quick at 5:30; Salem Concrete Jaycees vs Electric Furnace Engineering at 6:15; and Bayless vs Kiwanis at 7.

The season will come to a close on Thursday with Electric Furnace Office taking on Deming Co. at 5:30; Post Office facing Bliss at 6:15; and Hunt Plungers meeting Eljer at 7.

Packers On Browns' 1961 Grid Slate

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ready for football?

The Cleveland Browns will be on July 23, when summer training starts at Hiram College. Passers and receivers will check in for three days starting July 5.

And Coach Paul Brown is happy about those dates. The College All-Star game is being played early this (Aug. 4).

"I don't want to take any chance on running out of gas in December," Brown said Monday. "Even though the all-star game is early, we'll start that last week in July."

"It will be a break for us and the other teams to get the boys back from the Chicago game a week earlier than usual. There won't be so much catching up to do."

The Browns probably will play the Green Bay Packers, Western Division champs, at the Cleveland Stadium this fall. The other contest with a Western Division team will be in Chicago with the Bears, according to a tentative schedule prepared by Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

AS A TEAM the Bobcats experienced a bad year in the shooting department. They caged 30.8 per cent of their field goal attempts and only 51.9 per cent of their fouls.

The Bobcats split even in 18 regular season games, then copied one of three tourney tilts. Coach Jerry Suss' club posted one of the best defensive records in the district. Bobcat opponents averaged a mere 48.9 points per game. Greenford had a 51.6 average.

3 Area Cagers Make Honor List in 'A'

Jerry Schaffer of United and Rich Harrold and Gary Perkins of Columbiana were given honorable mention on the Associated Press 1961 Class A All-Ohio high school cage quintet picked on the basis of pretournament play by the state's coaches, sports writers and officials.

lost records not figuring. Neff and McDonald, a pair of high-scoring speed kings, stand only 5-11, but the others tower over six feet.

Neff is the only one of the "1,000 to 1" shots appearing in this week's state championship finals, but third-stringer Steve Miller of Youngstown Liberty also will be on hand. The other 13 on the top three teams were eliminated in the long "lose and out" tournament trail to the state classic.

Four from the honorable mention list will be seen in the Friday-Saturday title test. They are Fred Albrecht of Youngstown Liberty, Ron Harper of unbeaten Proctorville Fairland, and Rich Renick and Carl Whitaker of Madison South.

Pitchers Take Pounding in Exhibition Slaughters

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
The way the hitters are smashing the ball off, and over, the ones in Florida and Arizona, name of the game could be right instead of baseball.
The carnage continued unabated Monday with the St. Louis Cardinals inflicting the worst damage on Cincinnati pitchers.
The Yankees put together a four-run outburst in the sixth and came up with six in the seventh to hold off the Dodgers, who got a homer and triple from Willie Davis and four RBI performance by Wally Moon. Mickey Mantle had a homer and double for New York.
Vic Wertz, with 3-for-4, powered the Red Sox. Wertz' run-producing single in the ninth chased the winning run across on Jerry Lumpe's two-run double in the ninth inning.

Bill White led the Cardinals with four hits, two of them doubles, and Stan Musial contributed a single, double and triple against Cincinnati pitching hopefuls Ray Rippemeyer, Dave Stenhouse and Zach Monroe. Vada Pinson had a single and two triples for the Reds.
The Yankees put together a four-run outburst in the sixth and came up with six in the seventh to hold off the Dodgers, who got a homer and triple from Willie Davis and four RBI performance by Wally Moon. Mickey Mantle had a homer and double for New York.
Vic Wertz, with 3-for-4, powered the Red Sox. Wertz' run-producing single in the ninth chased the winning run across after his three-run homer had kept Boston in contention. Gene Leek had a homer, double and single for the Angels.

Chuck Essegian's two-run homer in the fifth and a three-run homer by Ron Samford in the sixth brought the Orioles, trailing 6-0, within range of the Pirates. Baltimore then won it with two in the ninth on Essegian's double, singles by Jerry Adair and Whitey Herzog, and an error.
Lumpe's game-winning double for Kansas City came with two out and the bases loaded off Washington reliever Marty Kutyna. The Athletics entered the bottom of the ninth trailing 3-2 when Ray Sempach filled the bases on three walks. Bud Daley, Johnny Kucks and Don Larsen worked for the A's, who won their seventh game in nine starts.

SALEM MAN GOES BERSERK IN SPORTS STORE

Quick action on the part of the sales force at Gordon Scott Sporting Goods prevented a serious foot injury to a customer last week. It seems the customer was trying on some Red Wing Boots that had been reduced in price. The announcement by the clerk that he was out of large sizes seemed to trigger the action. The frenzied customer charged past the clerk, grabbed a hunting knife and started to shorten his toes. With the customer's best interest at heart, and not losing sight of his outstanding charges, the clerk quickly and masterfully subdued the customer and prevented the catastrophe. — Gordon Scott.
